DESCRIPTION

Practicing Anthropology is a career-oriented publication of the Society for Applied Anthropology. Its overall goals are: (1) to provide a vehicle of communication and source of career information for anthropologists working outside academia; (2) to encourage a bridge between practice inside and outside the university; (3) to explore the uses of anthropology in policy research and implementation; (4) to serve as a forum for inquiry into the present state and future of anthropology in general.

BACK ISSUES/MICROFILM

All issues are available from Vol. 13, No. 1, Winter 1991. The price per issue is $5.00 (plus shipping & handling). A microfilm copy of volumes 1 through 16 is available for $100.00 (includes postage). Address all inquiries to the Business Office. Allow six weeks for delivery.